

To The Maxatawny Warehouses

Have You Heard?

Duke Realty, headquartered in Indianapolis, is going ahead with plans to develop Valley Logistics Park, a 1.6 million sq. ft. truck distribution warehouse project on several tracts of land comprising about 300 acres along the north side of Rt. 222 between Hilltop and Long Lane Roads. This creates the possibility of adding 5,122 cars/small truck trips and another 1,948 tractor trailer trips per day to the already congested and close to capacity roadways. No traffic studies have been done for the backroads to the north of Rt. 222, or the towns of Monterey and Maxatawny. There has already been many problems reported of wayward trucks illegally using backroads to get to and from I-78.

A 5 point circle is planned for Hottenstein road & Rt. 222 as well as a second circle at Long Lane Rd and Rt. 222 (completion date: 2024), but any road widening for the Town of Maxatawny and Monterey is unknown at this time. Rt. 737 will be used for truck traffic to and from I-78 to the Valley Logistics Park along with Rt. 100.

There are currently 1,799 trailer spaces on the plan plus 533 future spaces.

Save the Kemp Historic Burial Ground

Revolutionary War Captain George L Kemp, his wife, children, Hannah (who was one of the very few slaves in all of Pennsylvania) along with many other settlers of Maxatawny and surrounding areas, are laid to rest in the Kemp Historic Burial Grounds. Incorrect court documents were presented in Orphan's Court to allow Duke Realty to gain control of the cemetery, once they purchase the property, allowing Duke to disinter the remains and move them to another gravesite thus making way for the Valley Logistics Park. Research initiated by Duke Realty was suspiciously insufficient to find hundreds of descendants, who now oppose the relocation of their ancestors. Facebook: Save The Kemp Historic Burial Ground or @kempburialground
